

Natalie Eisenbarth
Policy & Advocacy Officer
International Rescue Committee

Natalie Eisenbarth is a policy and advocacy officer at the International Rescue Committee (IRC), based in Washington, D.C. In this capacity, Natalie leads the IRC's policy and advocacy toward the U.S. government on issues related to the organization's work in sub-Saharan Africa; she focuses specifically on humanitarian response in South Sudan, Central African Republic (CAR), and Somalia and Kenya. She has completed research and fact-finding missions in South Sudan, CAR, DR Congo, Kenya, Liberia, Sierra Leone, and Mali. Prior to joining the IRC, Natalie worked at InterAction, facilitating its policy advocacy on international humanitarian issues. Natalie holds a Master of Public Policy with a specialization in International Development Policy from The George Washington University.
